PhD Forum 2015: Towards greater rookie mobility in Europe

EAA Annual Congress, 2015

Prof. Urska Kosi, Ph.D.

My mobility experience

- PhD at Lancaster University Management School (UK)
- Researcher in Marie-Curie programme funded INTACCT Research Network
 - University of Macedonia, Thessaloniki (Greece)
 - Visits to HEC Paris (France); Lancaster University Management School (UK); other European universities within INTACCT (Spain, the Netherlands, Portugal, Germany, Cyprus...)
 - International conferences and workshops
- After PhD: assistant professor at Humboldt University Berlin (Germany)
- Currently: professor at Vienna University of Economics and Business (Austria)

Benefits of mobility

- General benefits
 - Getting to know potential colleagues
 - Senior faculty and young researchers
 - Learning about other institutions
 - Best practices and how they function
 - Discovering institutional differences that trigger ideas
 - Inputs for further professional development
 - New friendships
- Specific benefits
 - Access to high-quality research environment
 - E.g. databases, research seminars
 - Exposure to wider spectrum of research methodologies
