Doctoral Colloquium and Mentoring

Submission opens: 1 November 2024

Submission deadline: 13 January 2025

Shaping the Future of Finance and Accounting Research

In line with our mission to shape the future of Finance and Accounting research, we are excited to announce the Doctoral Colloquium and Mentoring—a dynamic and competitive session designed for Doctoral students specializing in Finance and Accounting.

During this session, Doctoral students attending FMARC 2025 will have an unparalleled opportunity to engage with distinguished mentors and showcase their work through either comprehensive presentations or pitching-style sessions. Students will receive targeted, constructive feedback aimed at enhancing the quality and impact of their research. Additionally, participants will explore potential career paths and gain valuable advice on navigating the academic landscape, the job market, and their professional development.

Guidelines for Doctoral Students

Doctoral students at all stages of their studies are encouraged to participate in FMARC 2025.

Doctoral Students with a Completed Working Paper (or Job Market Paper)

Doctoral students who have a completed working paper or a job market paper are invited to submit their work for potential presentation in the Doctoral Colloquium and Mentoring Session. Submissions in this category will be considered for long-format presentations, where students will have the opportunity to present their research in detail. To submit, choose the topic “001 – Doctoral Student (Completed working paper for long presentation).” Ensure you select additional topics that best specify your paper’s research area.

Doctoral Students with an Incomplete Paper

Doctoral students who are in the earlier stages of their research or have an incomplete paper are encouraged to submit an extensive abstract for a pitching-style presentation. This format allows students to briefly present their research ideas and receive feedback from mentors. To submit, choose the topic “002 – Doctoral Student (Incomplete paper for pitching style presentation)” and choose additional topics to specify your research focus.

For doctoral students in the early stages of their studies who may not yet have a paper, we encourage you to register to attend the Doctoral Colloquium and Mentoring Session. This session is particularly well-suited for those developing their doctoral theses and looking to seize the opportunity to meet distinguished mentors and share insights and discoveries with peers.

The Best Doctoral Paper Award is open exclusively to papers presented by doctoral students in the Doctoral Colloquium and Mentoring Session of FMARC 2025.
